Major Stanton of Hoboken received a letter yesterday from L. A. Reed of Waterbury, Conn., asking for information about a wedding ceremony performed last Monday. The couple were Peter Petersen, who gave his residence as California, and Bergethe Sorensen, a pretty girl who had just arrived from Copenhagen on the Rugia.

In his letter Mr. Reed frankly explained his interest in the matter. He said he was engaged to the young woman before he left the old country, and he came here with the understanding that when he was in a situation to support a wife he would send for her and they would be married. A regular correspondence was kept up between the two until about a month ago when Reed sent his betrothed $200 to pay her passage to the city.

The girl did not tell him the name of the steamer she was coming on, and he did not know her arrival until he learned from some source that she came on the Rugia; that Peter sent her on her arrival, and that they were married once to Major Stanton's office at City Hall and were married.

At the time of the wedding it was declared to Peter that he was not to be allowed to try to get married and bring his bride back, but that when he met Miss Sorensen it was a case of love at first sight. He had been married, and thinking perhaps that a bird in the hand was worth two in the bush, yielded to Peter's solicitation and gave her a check for $200. He said that he had been acquainted in the old country, and when she started to come here with the money he had sent her she must have notified him to look her up.
